CHAPTER 1, P. 1-31

P. 7, column 1, line 27 (Delafield sidebar):

Replace: “In 1847, this same forum ultimately gave rise to the Academy of Medicine, which named Delafield its first president.”

with: “As president of the Society, Delafield presided over a meeting in late 1846 during which its members discussed creating the New York Academy of Medicine. Shortly thereafter, on January 6, 1847 the Academy was formally established, with Delafield among its founding fellows.”

P. 30, column 1, line 6: (McDonogh sidebar)

Replace: “Slave trader and landowner of more than 500 slaves, John McDonogh was also a deeply religious man who, after suffering a crisis of conscience, became involved in the American Colonization Society (ASC) in 1825. Founded by Robert Finley, a New Jersey Presbyterian minister in 1816, the ACS advocated the return of freed slaves to Africa and was involved in establishing a founding colony in Liberia, ideas that the troubled John McDonogh came to embrace.”

with: “Slave trader and landowner of more than 500 slaves, John McDonogh, became involved in the American Colonization Society (ASC) in 1825, an organization comprised of Abolitionists and slave owners who generally shared the widely held opinion that integrating emancipated Blacks into white America was untenable. Founded by Robert Finley, a New Jersey Presbyterian minister in 1816, the ACS advocated the return of freed slaves to Africa as an alternative and was involved in establishing a founding colony in Liberia—ideas John McDonogh came to embrace.”

P. 31, column 2, line 1 (McDonogh sidebar):

Replace: “One result of Koplin and Shaw’s painstaking research was the creation of the McDonogh Society of Lafayette College and the Dr. David Kearny McDonogh Scholarship in Ophthalmology/ENT.”

with: “Koplin and Shaw’s research sparked the creation of the McDonogh Society of Lafayette College and the National Medical Fellowship’s Dr. David Kearny McDonogh Scholarship in Ophthalmology/ENT, the latter spearheaded by Daniel Laroche, MD (Founding Committee Chair), Karen Allison, MD, Ann Arthur-Andrew, MD, Nneka Brooks, MD, Jacqueline Busingye, MD, Benjeil Edghill, MD, Rondai Evans, MD, Chaneve Jeanniton, MD, John Mitchell, MD, and Dwayne Rollins, MD.”
